It would be but simple fairness and justice on the part of Colonel Woodward, when he is campaigning to say that all good citizens ought to endorse Governor Rusk for so well performing his unpleasant duty in Milwaukee. Why not following the example of the Madison Democrat and some other democratic papers in other states, and say that the governor did just right?

Miss Frances Willard, the distinguished advocate of woman's advancement, is a Rock county woman, born on the shores of Rock river, a short way below Janesville.

This is an error. Miss Willard was born in Rochester, New York, in September, 1839, but during her girlhood spent four or five years on a farm not far from the Wisconsin School for the Blind near Janesville. Miss Willard has not lived in Rock county since her graduation from the Northwestern Female College in 1858.

Judge Doolittle made an excellent plea for himself at Lappin's hall on Saturday evening. He claimed that he was a democrat-republican, a democrat after the school of Jefferson, and a republican after the order of Lincoln. The audience did not cheer him on making this statement, for none of his democratic friends in Janesville are believers in the system of politics taught by the greatest statesman of modern times—Abraham Lincoln. Judge Doolittle did not touch upon the democratic views of the present campaign, and here in he was wise. There was nothing for him to say that he could say well, and therefore he made a strong argument for himself, explaining his position twenty years ago and now. It was a well-tempered and a judicious speech, all the circumstances of the case being considered. Judge Doolittle has not lost any of the force and eloquence that gave him a wide reputation when he was one of the foremost republican United States senators and therefore his friends heard him gladly. It would be a good thing for the republican politics of Wisconsin if Judge Doolittle was now, where he was when he fought the splendid battle for the republic, and for the party that gave him all the political honor that was ever conferred upon him.

The other day there appeared in the Milwaukee Sentinel and also in the Gazette, a dispatch from Madison the effect that at a prayer meeting in the Congregational church at Madison last week, there was a chilling debate between the Rev. Charles H. Richard, pastor of the church, and John Bascom, of the State University, in regard to running politics into the church, Mr. Richards being opposed to it, and Mr. Bascom, as everybody knows, being in favor of it. Mr. Richards has written a letter to the Sentinel in which he says that the dissension of the night referred to was not a bitter one, and says: "During the meeting, Dr. Bascom criticized, as he had a perfect right to do, the resolution adopted at the recent meeting of the state convention of Congregational churches which approved of the abolition of the liquor traffic, but did not commit the convention to any political party. At the close of the meeting, I took occasion to express approval of the convention's action, on the ground that churches and church associations, being composed of conscientious men of different parties, should not commit themselves any party in particulas I also deprecated the introduction of political controversies into the church, as well as of doctrinal contentions lest it should be diverted from its higher purposes and become a mere debating society. It is, however, untrue to the facts to magnify this molehill of difference of opinion into a mountain of antagonism. So far from there being anything like a coolness between President Bascom and myself, as the dispatch would imply, we are on terms of the warmest friendship, which no political disagreement will be allowed to diminish."

"WELL DONE GOOD AND FAITHFUL SERVANT."

The following letter to the Hon. L. B. Caswell, from the president and secretary of the American Agricultural and Dairy association, embodies the action of the association at its late meeting in Philadelphia, and shows the esteem with which Mr. Caswell's course in congress is regarded by all intelligent dairy farmers. It should be our motto to "put none but friends on guard."

NEW YORK, Sept. 29, 1886.

Hon. L. B. Caswell,

MY DEAR SIR:—At the recent national convention of the American Agricultural and Dairy Association I was instructed to convey to you their high appreciation of your services in congress, in connection with the passage of the Oleomargarine bill, which they regard as the most important and valuable measure ever adopted for the protection and benefit of the producer and consumer of food, especially of dairy products.

It was also the unanimous sentiment of the convention that your return to congress is desired, regardless of party politics, and it is hoped all farmers in your district will support you for re-election.

This association having certain definite aims in view, for the complete protection of the producer and consumer, in all matters, desire men in congress on whom it can rely, as in your case.

Thanking you most sincerely on their behalf for your appreciation of the needs of the people, and your eminent services to them as their representative in congress, I have the honor to remain,

Respectfully,
JOS. H. REALL, President.
F. K. MORELAND, Secretary.

The foregoing was published in the Jefferson County Union, on the 15th inst. and is a fitting endorsement of Mr. Caswell's course in congress. He not only deserves the support of the dairymen, but of everybody who is interested in having a thoroughly competent representative at Washington—one who never lacks wisdom in voting or working for his constituents.

VOTE AND WORK.

The election which will take place next week will be one of the most important ever held in Wisconsin. The people of the whole country are looking with more than ordinary interest for the outcome of the campaign. Governor Rusk, as the Chicago Journal puts it, is on trial before the whole people of the state for suppressing a riot and preventing the destruction of property and the loss of life. It is because he did this that the labor agitators are seeking to defeat him. They are using every effort to down him in this campaign to crush him politically simply because he had the high moral courage and the right understanding of his duty, to hasten to the scene of lawlessness, and suppress it.

The question is, shall the people of Wisconsin permit this thing to be done? Shall they say by their votes that the governor must not be sustained? It would seem that the good sense of the people of Wisconsin would at once put an end to all doubt as to the election of Governor Rusk, and that his re election would be secured by an immense majority.

As to the importance of the campaign in this state, the Milwaukee Sentinel says:

It is not the republican party that can be hurt by Gov. Rusk's defeat, if such a defeat could be accomplished. There are nearly 200,000 republican voters in Wisconsin who are interested in the result of the election only as citizens. They have no further personal interest in it than the same number of voters of other parties. Not one republican in every 10,000 expects any personal benefit from a republican success. If their party could be defeated, they would have the consciousness that they did the right thing and voted to sustain the dearest principle that has been attacked in this country since the war.

To make sure of success, the republicans of Rock county should do their part of the word and do it well. They should not only vote but work. The majority for Governor Rusk and the entire state ticket should be made as large as possible. To do this every republican ought to go to the polls and cast his ballot for Jerry Rusk and victory. Let none stay at home. This should not be called an "off year." The people should be as full of enthusiasm as in a presidential year, and the vote should be as large. Let this be done and the state ticket will be elected by a majority which will be an honor to Wisconsin and a pride to the country.

SOME SENSIBLE TALK.

The other day some friend of the anarchists in Milwaukee, or at least one who was friendly enough to excuse their conduct in Milwaukee last May, sent a dispatch to the Madison Democrat which claimed that "proof had come to light" that the "alleged anarchist in Milwaukee was simply a peaceful religious procession; that it was fired into by the militia without warrant of law or excuse of any kind whatever; and finally that Governor Rusk entrenched himself behind an array of bayonets in the cavalry armory, and really had very little to do with the affair, anyway." It seems that the editor of the Democrat did not see the silly dispatch until it had been printed in his paper, and then he wrote and printed the following editorial:

A Milwaukee special published in The Democrat of Friday morning, did not come to the notice of the editor until it had appeared in the paper, or it would have been transferred to the waste-basket. Of course no newspaper is responsible for statements in its telegraphic columns, but it is not the purpose of The Democrat to have misrepresentations in its telegraphic columns nor to permit the advocacy of questions in the telegraphic columns not approved editorially. This dispatch can easily be construed into a criticism of the course of the governor of the state during the riots in May last, and as easy into a defense of the lawless gang marching to the Bay View iron works. The Democrat has always commended the governor's acts and condemned the mob (that is what it was.) It does so now. The correspondent probably knows, or he ought to know, that it made no difference whether it was a mob or a Sunday school picnic, it had no business out there. Then it is not true that the mob had no notice not to go there. Still more it is notoriously true that it started as a mob with the avowed purpose of "cleaning out the militia". It got exactly what it deserved—a volley. It had notice then and just the notice it needed.

It is hoped The Democrat's correspondent will not so far mistake the position of the paper again on that subject as to offer any excuse for that mob. When the militia shall be called out to suppress —no matter whether it is due to a weak and cowardly mayor or any other reason —it is the business of quiet and peaceable citizens, Sunday school picnics as well as mobs, to keep out of the way. Too much contempt cannot be expressed in any language for the cowardly misuse of the militia. If there was any mistake at Milwaukee it was in not shooting one day sooner. When the militia shall be used in the only way soldiers ought to be used, the militia will not be called out to suppress riots, or if it is it will not get near enough to shoot anybody with any gun yet manufactured.

One more word. This dispatch describes the governor as being at the armory surrounded by cavalry. This was just where he ought to have been, as the correspondent would have known if he had known anything of militia service.

If there is anything that the editor of the Madison Democrat hates, it is the Shilling class of labor agitators and anarchists in Milwaukee. He cannot look upon their action last May with any degree of allowance, and this is right.

The spirit of this excellent editorial copied from the Democrat, is a marked contrast with the speech which Colonel Woodward, the democratic candidate for governor, made in Janesville on Saturday night.

THE NIMBLE SCOUNDREL

AGAIN HIES HIM AWAY TO THE COLONY IN CANADA,

And Leaves His Trusting Employers Mourning for a Shortage in Their Cash —Hicklin J. Landers, of Indianapolis, the Latest Levanter—A Sorrowful Case on a Small Scale at Chicago.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct 25.—An extensive defalcation giving an exact counterpart of the methods inaugurated by Neeld at Chicago has been developed here. On Tuesday last the senior member of the firm of Landers, Givin & Co., large pork packers, told Hicklin Landers, the confidential clerk to remit some money to Logan & Co., of Chicago. The clerk informed him that there was no money to the firm's credit in the bank. When asked what had become of $18,000 which he had deposited the day before Hicklin confessed that he had used the money. It has since been learned that warehouse receipts had been deposited with certain banks and one for $20,800, and another for $17,000 were found in the Indiana National and Meridian National banks respectively. These had been signed in blank, it is alleged, and fraudulently filled out by young Landers. The firm say that there was not a pound of meat in the warehouse when the receipts were issued, and that they are forgeries.

From a reliable source it is learned that up to Friday evening a shortage of $105,000 had been discovered. An expert has found that many of the accounts have been falsified under these circumstances. Young Landers is a nephew of the senior member of the firm. He is understood to have left the city and there is little doubt but the young man is now safe in Canada. He undoubtedly lost the money in Chicago margins. Neither of the banks expect to lose anything.

Another Case in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—J. C. Cameron, a young man of 28 years, was before Justice Lyon Saturday charged by his employer, Mr. McRoberts, wholesale hardware dealer, with embezzlement to the amount of about $3,000, taken during the past three years. He had spent the money on wine and women. With tears in his eyes the prisoner, pleaded to his employer for forgiveness, but not leniency, for he immediately turned to his honor, and, in a quivering voice, said: "I am guilty; let me get through and go to the penitentiary as soon as possible. The strain upon me is too much," and he hung his head and wept like a child. Mr. McRoberts said he had raised Cameron and had trusted him implicity. He was about as much affected as the prisoner, who will go to Joliet for his crime as soon as the regular proceedings are gone through with.

A GREAT LABOR PARADE.

Thirty Thousand Knights in Line at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—The Knights of Labor parade which was made Saturday night in honor of the returning delegates, was the largest and best demonstration of the kind ever witnessed here, there being over 30,000 men in line. Every trade and branch of employment known, was represented, each bearing appropriate transparencies. The streets through which the procession passed were lined with people and many of them were almost impassible. The procession, owing to the large number in line, did not start until 9 o'clock. They countermarched on Broad street from Diamond to Christian, then to Chestnut, to Fifth and there dispersed. The procession was composed of six divisions and was strictly orderly and marched well. They were roundly applauded by the spectators as they marched through the different streets.

A mass-meeting was also held at the Academy of Music, in front of which the procession passed. The meeting was addressed by several prominent speakers who were enthusiastically applauded.

Mr. Powderly was not present owing to pressing business which keeps him in Massachusetts.

Criminal Cases Against Strikers.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—Among the cases on the criminal court docket for the November term are a number that grow out of the Missouri Pacific strike. Some of the defendants are as follows: Fred Page, George Fisher, and Joseph Watterson, charged with inciting a riot. Hugo Fitzgerald, editor, and E. A. Carpenter, manager, of The Labor Union, charged with criminal libel, for sending threatening letters to new employes in the Pacific shops; John Collins, Fred Page, W. H. Hamilton, Frank Spann, and G. F. McCullough, who are accused of tearing up the railroad track and throwing cars from the same, whereby half a dozen persons were injured, two of them, Officers Mason and O'Neil, having limbs broken.

His Character Has Been Developed.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 25.—Samuel V. Gray, the defaulting pension office clerk, was taken before Judge Acheson, of the United States district court, Saturday. He looked haggard and careworn from confinement, and is seemingly a wreck. The prisoner's counsel stated that his client wished to plead guilty on the twelve charges against him, but asked that sentence be suspended for a week in order that the testimony of a number of character witnesses might be heard. Sentence was postponed until next Friday. Gay's wife accompanied him from and to the jail. The penalty in each count is five years imprisonment.

Clubbed by a Negro.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Mrs. James Dolan and Miss Nora Moran were assaulted by a negro Sunday night in Englewood, a suburb of this city, and robbed of $40. The negro sprang upon the two women in a lonely part of the village and kicked and beat Miss Moran into insensibility and then attacked Mrs. Dolan. After securing the money he ran away and has not yet been captured. Both ladies will recover, although they are terribly bruised and beaten.

Free of Charge. Your Druggists will refund your money if Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup does not give you satisfaction and cure your cough. Price 25 cents.

CARTER HARRISON FOR CONGRESS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The Democrats of the Third district met in convention Saturday and nominated Mayor Harrison for congressman to run against William E. Mason, the Republican candidate. The district has heretofore been Republican, and the Democrats have held several conferences to decide upon a man to contest the seat. A committee was appointed about a week ago to consider the matter, and they reported Saturday in favor of naming Mr. Harrison, and the convention immediately accepted the report and made the nomination. No other candidate was even mentioned. The nomination is probably the strongest that could have been made. It is not yet known whether Mr. Harrison will accept the nomination. He has said that he will not make a regular canvass, and would not accept under conditions requiring him to do so. In an interview Saturday Mr. Harrison said he did not want to run, but had not seen the committee appointed to formally announce his nomination to him, and perhaps they could convince him that it was necessary that he should make the race.

'TWAS A FAMOUS VICTORY.

The St. Louis Club Wins the World's Base Ball Championship.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 25.—A harder fought contest was never witnessed on the diamond field than that which took place Saturday at Sportsmens' park between the St. Louis Browns and the Chicago club, for the world's championship. It took ten innings to decide the game, the Browns getting in a run and winning by the merest scratch, a fumble by Williamson and a passed ball allowing Welch to score and win the championship of the world for the Browns. At the conclusion of the game the crowd in the stands broke loose and rushed into the field, yelling and cheering, throwing up their hats, shaking hands with and hugging each other in their great joy. The champions were individually seized and carried triumphantly to their dressing-room. The score was as follows:

Chicago	0	1	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	—3

The batteries were Carruthers and Bushong for St. Louis, and Clarkson and Kelly for Chicago, and the umpire was Pearce. The total amount won by the St. Louis club as a result of the series of games is $15,910.23, of which sum $9,554.25 was taken in at Chicago and $6,355.85 at St. Louis. Before the game began Mr. H. Clay Sexton, on behalf of the members of the Merchants' exchange, presented Bushong, catcher of the Browns, with a handsome silver service and Capts. Anson and Comiskey with bouquets.

WOULD STAND NO NONSENSE.

Street Car Men Strike for the Privilege of Sitting Down.

PEORIA, Oct. 25.—A short but lively strike took place here Sunday. The drivers of the cars on the Central City Horse Railway Company's lines, embracing four out of the five horse railway lines in this city, having had their stools removed by order of the company, and having vainly protested against being compelled to stand up from sixteen to seventeen hours a day, abandoned their cars as fast as they arrived, and by 11 o'clock not a car on the lines was running. This continued until 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when the company gave in and the drivers resumed work, being greeted with cheers by the people who lined the sidewalks. The drivers had the sympathy of the people with them from the start and indulged in no riotous demonstrations.

What Will the Quakes Do Next?

CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 25.—A number of geysers have been the result of the recent earthquake near Summerville. The water does not spout up very high from most of the geysers, but it is reported that water was thrown up fully three feet from one of them, near Ashley river. The water is as cold as ice and as clear as crystal. The water is accompanied by fine sand of different colors. This has reawakened the apprehensions of the people, and they are asking each other what will happen next.

Fire in New England.

DOVER, N. H., Oct. 25.—A fire, which promises to be extensive, broke out at Barrington Saturday evening and is sweeping over a large area of woodland. The Hodge farm house and the woodlands of Dr Horsch, Frank Clark, William C. Razzell, and several adjoining lots have already been wiped out. The loss so far is estimated at about $25,000. The fire is still raging.

Both Dead with Their Throats Cut.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. John McGowan were found lying on a bed in their house Sunday morning with their throats cut. The woman was dead and McGowan died soon afterward. Their 4-year-old child was in the bed. There is no explanation of the tragedy. The McGowans were poor and lived in a little house in the outskirts of the city.

Harry Wilkes Wins $2,500.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 25.—The trotters Harry Wilkes, Arab and Charlie Hilton, which are being taken to San Francisco, were stopped here for a race Saturday. Harry Wilkes won three straight heats, Arab second; time, 2:21¾, 2:17, 2:20¾. Contest was for a purse of $2,500.

The Indianapolis Journal.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 25.—It is rumored here that a syndicate has been formed to purchase The Indianapolis Journal, composed of A. D. Harris, Republican nominee for congress in this district, and other prominent Republicans. Ninety thousand dollars is named as the price.

Alleged Poisoners Indicted for Murder.

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Sarah J. Robinson, Dr. Beers and T. R. Smith, who are accused of wholesale poisoning in Somerville, have been indicted for murder by the grand jury at Lowell.

The Damage at Summerville.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 25.—Advices from Summerville state that 100 chimneys were demolished by the earthquake Friday and damage to the amount of $6,000 done.

WHY IS IT

That rheumatism and neuralgia are so prevalent? This question has not been satisfactorily answered, but it is certain that these diseases are not only the most painful but among the most common, and some member of nearly every family in the land is the victim of one of these dread tormentors. Ladies seem to be peculiarly liable to neuralgic attacks, which, in the form of neuralgic headache, pain in the back, or nervous pains are of constant occurrence. Not until the discovery of Athlophoros had any remedy been found for either rheumatism, neuralgia or nervous headache, and they were generally conceded to be incurable, but Athlophoros has been proved to be not only a certain cure for these diseases, in all their varied forms, but a safe remedy. If, in the use of Athlophoros, the bowels are kept freely open, its success is certain, and to aid this, Athlophoros Pills are recommended, which, while providing the necessary cathartic, will be found to be a valuable aid to the action of the medicine. Athlophoros is no experiment, it has been tested and has proved its wonderful efficacy.

The Athlophoros Pills were originally prepared as a remedy for use in connection with Athlophoros, for rheumatism and neuralgia and kindred complaints. Used in connection with that remedy, they are a certain cure for either of these very common and distressing diseases. They have also been found to be an invaluable remedy for any and all diseases arising from vitiated blood or general debility. They are especially valuable for nervous debility, blood poisoning, dyspepsia, distress after eating, headache, constipation, loss of appetite, and all stomach or liver troubles. For diseases of women they are invaluable. These pills are perfectly harmless and may be safely used by adults or children.

Testimonials of those who have been cured will be sent free on application.

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist, the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

The following letter is from a former resident of Lima, Rock county. Since it was written we have sent Mr. Teetshorn about thirty more operators.

GREEN BAY, WINONA & ST. PAUL RAILROAD
Train Dispatcher's Office,
GREEN BAY Wis., SEPT. 22, 1885.

Valentine Bros.:

DEAR SIRS: In reply to yours of the 16th inst., would say that during the past ten years this company has employed about 150 of your graduates. About thirty-five of them are now in its employ as agents and operator, giving good satisfaction, the others have left us at different times to accept positions on other railroads. We shall continue to send to you for operators when ever we need them. In view of the certainty of a great revival of railroad building in 1886, I know of no business which offers equal opportunities for advancement. Being myself a graduate of your school, I heartily recommend it to all who may wish to learn telegraphy

Yours truly,
F. E. TEETSHORN, Chief Train Dispatcher.

An examination of our school will convince one that our course of instruction is far more valuable than a commercial college course, because we teach our students a trade and then place where they have every opportunity to work their way upward. We have supplied more than a thousand operators for the Western Union Telegraph Company, and as many more for different Railroad Companies. Call and see us or write for our circulars.

TAFFY!

When administered in small doses, is harmless, but when used as an advertisement by merchants, to advertise so-called Bargains, begins to get nauseating to the general buyer.

THE CHICAGO BARGAIN STORE

Never advertises a "Bargain Sale," "50 Per Cent Reduction," "Sample lots" We think our customers are too intelligent to give them any such taffy, we however quote our prices and all we ask is for the buyer to examine it, compare it with our competitors' prices, and we are satisfied your verdict will be The Chicago Bargain Store

A PHYSICIAN'S WRATH

The Pen Dipped in Gall at Work Again—Lamar Rebukes the Spirit of Ostracism—Great Military Competition—Waist Places at the Capital—Print Shop Finances—Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 25.—Dr. A. Y. P. Garnett, a leading Washington physician, received Friday, from Commissioner Black, this letter:

Your certificate of sickness in the case of Miss ——— is hereby returned to you, as it is not sufficiently explicit. The rules of this office require that physicians shall specify the trouble with which the patient is afflicted. I have therefore to request that you make a new certificate and forward to this office, accompanied by this letter, as soon as practicable. The certificates of physicians are treated in the office with the strictest confidence.

In reply Dr. Garnett, among other things, said:

My first impression when reading this extraordinary and somewhat impertinent edict was to return it without comment, but reflecting that the interests of a large number of innocent persons may be involved, I have determined to give expression to my views of the issue which you have thus presented. Several years ago this question of right on the part of a government department to require certificates of physicians specifying the disease with which an absent employe had been affected came before the Medical association of the District, and, after a free expression of opinion by its members upon the subject, it was determined that no such demand should be complied with. In all civilized countries the relation between the medical man and his patient is regarded as a private compact, involving the personal honor of the former and possessing all the sanctity implied by an oath, one which no honorable member of the fraternity could violate without entailing upon himself personal disgrace. This question can not be determined by the mere official dictum of a government functionary, although clothed in the seemingly arrogant language of "requiring that physicians shall, etc." No medical man in this city, who possesses a proper self-respect and correctly appreciates the dignity and responsibilities of his profession, will ever debase himself so far as to comply with such a rule. In the particular case referred to in your note, I have already informed you that the party has been under and still is under surgical treatment, which physically unfitted her for the performance of her official duties.

In conclusion, permit me to say that as this is a general order or rule, not alone confined to your office, I understand, I shall avoid the charge of being personally offensive to you when I express the opinion that the conception of such a rule must have originated with and emanated from some disciple of a school of moral ethics which I can not condescend to recognize.

Dr. Garnett was appointed last year as one of the local board to examine pension claimants. He stands high as a physician and is a prominent Democrat.

A VERY DEAD ISSUE,

Secretary Lamar Declares the Charges Against Pension Agent Wagoner.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 25.—Several weeks ago Maj. Wagoner was appointed pension agent at Knoxville, Tenn., to succeed Robert L. Taylor, resigned. In the meantime some utterances of Maj. Wagoner, of twenty years ago, were published which, it is alleged, gave offense to some of his endorsers, and they have been working to have his appointment revoked. The secretary of the interior declines to recommend the revocation of Maj. Wagoner's commission. He says: "Maj. Wagoner was appointed upon the recommendation of the leading and best citizens of Tennessee, of all parties, who represented him as a man fully qualified in integrity, intellect and character for the duties of the position, and as a man endeared to the people by his consistent support, during the past twenty years, of their highest and best interests. The fact brought out against him since his commission was issued, that he had given an unjust and unwise vote for disfranchisement, when he was a young man, not more than 21 years of age, immediately after the war, when the passions of both sides were roused to the highest pitch, should not now be used to ostracize him from public trust among a people to whose rights and interests he has ever since been true and loyal. We have all been contending that the issues of the war and the passions growing out of it should not be kept alive, and I do not know of any instance in which precept can better be enforced by example than this. Both sides in Tennessee showed the courage to fight. I am confident they have also that higher quality, the magnanimity mutually to forgive."

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 25.—Stray notes from time to time have been published about the national drill to be held at Washington, commencing on the 23d of next May and continuing eight days, closing with a general parade of national guardsmen, and special features on Decoration Day, May 30. The success of the grand military fete is now assured. Nothing remains to be done by the promoters and organizers of the drill but to arrange the details and prepare for a monster gathering of militiamen. The managing secretary is T. C. DeLeon, who managed the international drill at Mobile, Ala., in 1885.

The drill will be open to infantry, artillery, cavalry and zouave corps, regiments, battalions and companies; also to cadet corps from military institutes and universities, and with prizes for individual drill for volunteers and soldiers of the regular army. More than $25,000 will be distributed in prizes, ranging from $500 to $5,000 each, besides stands of colors, gold, silver and bronze medals, and five individual prizes ranging from $50 to $150, the prizes to be presented by President Cleveland.

All soldiers taking part in these contests will be camped about the Washington monument under the command of some noted national guardsman and the drills will take place in what is known as the "White lot," just south of the president's mansion. Officers of the regular army specially detailed for that duty will judge the drills and make the programmes for the several arms of service. Strict discipline will be preserved in camp George Washington, the name that has been chosen for the camp. Special days will be assigned, such as president's day, regiment day, battalion day, the former for final adjudgment of prizes. Music will be an important attraction. It is expected that the most famous bands and drum corps of the country will assemble here; and in addition to daily drills, nightly promenade band concerts, are proposed, with such music as Cappa's, Gilmore's and like bands.

Letters concerning entries of battalions and companies are coming in fast. So far these represent forty-one companies from fifteen states, north, south and west. Among the old "crack companies" expected are the Chickasaw guards, Honstons, Porter rifles, Montgomery True Blues, Mobile Rifles, Milwaukee Light Horse, Danville (Ills.) Battery D, Louisville Legion, Indianapolis Light artillery, Governor's Grays, of Dubuque; Louisiana Rifles and others of equal note.

The Congressional Print Shop.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 25.—Since Public Printer Benedict took charge of the government printing office about 450 employes have been discharged, and only two or three new appointments have been made. He has reduced the pay-roll from $150,000 a month to less than $120,000. Until congress meets in December there will probably be no more discharges, or very few. But if congress, when it meets, does not pass a joint resolution authorizing him to exceed the one-half of the year's appropriation, which the law says he shall not exceed during the first six months of the year, it will be necessary at once to make extensive discharges, for at the present time only $420,000 remain available for labor and material and all expenses up to the end of the year.

National Notables Running to Waist.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 25.—The expert from the New York school of massage who has helped Secretary Manning so much, had an interview with the president Friday. Mr. Cleveland intends to take a course of treatment to see if he can not reduce his flesh. He has gained so much in the last six months that he has had to have the buttons on his coat moved forward three inches. Gen. Sheridan placed himself in the hands of the massage professor Friday to have his waist reduced to normal size. Massage and Swedish movements promise to be very fashionable with Washington notables afflicted with large waists.

The Way to Waste Money.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 24.—Lieut. Col. McFarland, in charge of the improvements of Hudson and Harlem rivers, has reported to the war department that nearly all that was accomplished on the Hudson river project has been undone by delay and lack of funds. He asks $94,000 for the Hudson and $2,200,000 for the Harlem river improvements.

Good for the Creditors.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 25.—The comptroller of the currency has declared a second dividend of 10 per cent., making in all 40 per cent., in favor of the creditors of the Logan National bank of West Liberty, Ohio, and also a sixth dividend of 5 per cent., making in all 55 per cent. in favor of the creditors of the First National bank of Monmouth, Ills.

Our September Business.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 25.—During the past month of September, exports from the United States were $54,064,670, and for the twelve months ended Sept. 30, $693,708,963. Imports during September, were valued at $55,328,245, and for the twelve months ended Sept. 30, $654,872,531.

A Woman's Homestead Rights.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 25.—Secretary Lamar has decided that "a woman who makes a homestead entry, and subsequently marries before completing the same, does not forfeit her right thereby to acquire title to the land." This reverses Commissioner Spark's decision.

Sitting Down on Andover.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 25.—At the session of the state Presbyterian synod Saturday speeches were made by a number of ministers deploring the doctrinal innovations at Andover seminary. Dr. Edgar said that the alumni of Andover seminary were preparing a remonstrance against the changes as promulgated from that institution. The committee on overtures recommended the passage of a declaration in place of the resolutions introduced Friday by Rev. Pierson, and it was accepted unanimously with applause.

The declaration states that in view of the serious departure in certain quarters from some of the doctrines, this synod takes occasion to reassert its unshaken adherence to what it believes to be teachings of the word of God, as explicitly set forth in the Westminster standard, especially in relationship to the final state of the impenitent wicked. A profounder study of the word of God, and a more earnest preaching of its plain truths, leaving to God himself to vindicate his ways and to eternity the fuller unfolding of the mysteries of his providence and grace, is commended.

Killed at Football.

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 25.—Harry Garrison, of New Jersey, a student at Dickinson college, was almost instantly killed during a game of foot ball played here Saturday afternoon, between the Swarthmore, of Philadelphia, and Dickinson teams. In the second inning Garrison captured the ball, when his opponents made a rush, and in the scramble that ensued he was thrown backwards with great force. His head struck the earth, or a stone, and ruptured a blood vessel behind the left ear. The fall also produced concussion of the brain, which resulted fatally in about fifteen minutes after the accident.

Back to Ten Hours Again.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 25.—The employes of Kingan & Co.'s pork packing establishment met Saturday afternoon and, after a long discussion, agreed to the demands of the company to work ten hours per day, without an increase of wages. The return to the ten hour system at Kingan's is believed to be the initiatory step to a return in all branches of labor in this city.

Wasps are no Respecters of Persons.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Mr. Gladstone, while engaged in felling a tree at Hawarden on Saturday, unconsciously disturbed a wasp's nest. The enraged insects attacked the ex-premier and stung him badly about the head and face, which Sunday were swollen to balloon-like proportions. Mr. Gladstone was consequently unable to attend church.

Cheaper Postage Not Practicable.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The World's Washington special says that Postmaster General Vilas Thursday stated that, though he had estimated for a $9,000,000 deficiency in the postoffice department this year, the actual deficiency is less than $7,000,000. He does not think 1 cent postage practicable in this country yet.

Thought Better of the Matter.

YATES CITY, Ills., Oct. 25.—The Greenbackers of the Tenth congressional district met here Saturday and decided not to nominate a candidate. They have had two nominees, but both withdrew.

Frightful and Fatal Accident.

NEWARK, O., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Olive Thomas, 35 years of age, while engaged in boiling down cider, near Cranville, ten miles west of here, Saturday, got too near the fire and her clothing ignited. She became frantic with fear, running wildly around the yard. This only fanned the flames and in a short time her entire body was enveloped. No one was near to render assistance and the woman was roasted alive. She died in a short time, after suffering the most excruciating agony.

A Water Famine in New Hampshire.

DOVER, N. H., Oct. 25.—Wells and springs in Strafford county are dry, and a water famine is threatened unless there is an immediate rain. The Salmon's Falls mills are running on two-thirds time for lack of water.

Death of Baron Von Beust.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Baron Frederick Ferdinand Von Beust, the distinguished German statesman, is dead. He was 77 years of age

Free Trade.

The reduction of internal revenue and the taking off of revenue stamps from Proprietary Medicines, no doubt has largely benefitted the consumers, as well as relieving the burden of home manufacturers. Especially is this the case with Green's August Flower and Boschee's German Syrup, as the reduction of thirty-six cents per dozen, has been added to increase the size of the bottles containing these remedies, thereby giving one-fifth more medicine in the 75 cent size. The August Flower for Dyspepsia and liver complaint, and the German Syrup for cough and lung troubles, have perhaps, the largest sale of any medicines in the world. The advantage of increased size of the bottles will be greatly appreciated by the sick and afflicted, in every town and village in civilized countries. Sample bottles 10 cents remain the same size.

Facts Worth Knowing.

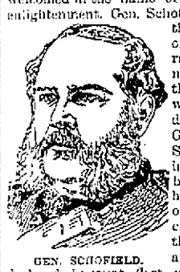

In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with douches, snuffs, powders, ointments, astringents or any similar application, because they are all irritating, do not thoroughly reach the affected surfaces and should be abandoned as worse than failures. A multitude of persons who had for years borne all the worry and pain that catarrh can inflict testify to radical and permanent cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balm.

BARTHOLDI'S COLOSSUS.

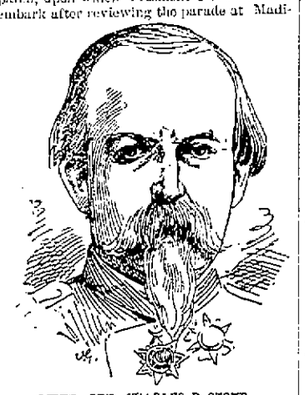

A GREAT EVENT TO TAKE PLACE THE PRESENT WEEK.

Dedication of One of the Wonders of the World, the Statue of Liberty—Military and Naval Displays on Immense Scales To Be Features of the Occasion Arrival of Noted Frenchmen.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—As the day set apart for the unveiling of the statue of Liberty draws nigh public interest in the celebration is greatly increasing. The goddess will, to all appearances, have no fault to find with the hearty enthusiasm that will greet her when, in all her majesty, she is welcomed in the name of advancement and enlightenment. Gen. Schofield has completed the general details of the military parade, and issued the necessary orders for the same, which will be under the direct supervision of Gen. Charles P. Stone. The booming of cannon will be answered by the huzzas of thousands of men, women and children who will throng Bedloe's island and crowd the decks of the great fleet of vessels that will fill the harbor. It looks as if there would be not less than 25,000 persons in the land parade. They will make a line of march six miles in length, and will occupy from two and a half to three hours in passing a given point. The naval procession will form in double column off Forty-fifth street. The route will be down the river on the line of men-of-war, and up on the western side of the channel between the men-of-war and Bedloe's and Ellis islands. The signal gun by which the procession will be started will be fired by the Dispatch, upon which President Cleveland will embark after reviewing the parade at Madison square. Admiral Luce will command the fleet. The official programme will be as follows:

GEN. SCHOFIELD.

LIEUT. GEN. CHARLES P. STONE

Prayer by Rev. Dr. Storrs. Presentation address by William M. Evarts. Address of acceptance by the president of the United States and remarks by the French minister. Commemorative oration by Chauncey M. Depew. Doxology, "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow." Benediction by Rt. Rev. Henry C. Potter. Salute and finale.

In the evening there will be pyrotechnic displays from both Governor's and Bedloe's islands and from the Battery.

The formal reception of the French delegates to the celebration by the American committee will take place at the Academy of Music Tuesday evening. The entire house is to be decorated with flags and flowers. William M. Evarts and Frederick R. Coudert will be the orators of the evening. Messrs. Bartholdi, Ferdinand de Lesseps, and Minister La Faivre, of France will also be present. Five choral societies will assist, and nearly every French organization in the city will take part. After the ceremonies the guests will be conducted to private boxes, where they will listen to a concert in which several eminent artists will take part.

The French steamer La Bretagne, which arrived at quarantine late Sunday night, had on board the distinguished delegates appointed by the French government to participate in the ceremonies of the unveiling of the statue. The sculptor, Auguste Bartholdi, and his wife, are of the party, which is headed by Senator Ferdinand de Lesseps, president of the committee of the Franco-American union. He is accompanied by Miss Fernando de Lesseps, his oldest daughter. The others are representatives of the French government, several French societies and the Paris press, with a number of distinguished men who came simply as visitors.

A PILED UP WRECK.

Two Men Badly Scalded and Others Slightly Hurt.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 25.—A misplaced switch threw a passenger train running twenty-eight miles an hour into a freight train waiting on a siding eight miles from here Saturday night, causing the worst wreck in the history of the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee railway. The locomotive telescoped the baggage-car and one freight-car, and piled up a mass of wreckage to the height of a three-story house. John Hennessy and T. B. Alexander in the baggage-car were both pinned down by the stove. Both were rescued, however, not dangerously injured. John Smedley, fireman of the freight, was found under the end of a broken cylinder of the locomotive, the steam from which had cooked his flesh on the right side of his leg, body and arms. Nicholas Lamb, the engineer, was also badly scalded and cut. The injured were brought to hospitals here on the relief train, and it is not believed that the injuries of any will end fatally. None of the passengers was more than slightly injured.

Blaine at Washington, Pa.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 25.—Mr. Blaine and his party arrived here about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The welcome given him was hearty and enthusiastic, with no element of boisterousness. During the afternoon Mr. Blaine made a non-political address from the portico of the old building in which he received his collegiate education, President Moffatt, of the college, presiding, and in the evening a reception was held at the residence of his uncle, Maj. J. M. Ewing. Crowds were present on both occasions.

An Accidental Sacrifice.

DOVER, N. H., Oct. 25.—During a wake in the house of Joseph Narcotte, over a 6-months-old child, which lay on an altar of white paper and cloth, a lighted candle was overturned. The altar was ignited and the child was burned to a crisp.

And After That What?

SOFIA, Oct. 25.—Gen. Kaulbars has informed the Bulgarian government by note that Russia will regard the proceedings of the grand sobranje as null and void.

SOME DISCLAIMERS FROM GEORGE.

Certain Incendiary Remarks Repudiated—The Tax Question.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Henry George has written an open letter to Mr. Hewitt in reply to the latter's statement concerning Mr. George's theories, the substance of which is a denial that he has ever said "Hereafter millionaires are to be on one side of politics, and workingmen on the other," and that "with all its drawbacks and horrors, and short-comings the great epoch of the French revolution, now a century gone, is about to repeat itself here," or such other saying as that his supporters "can not shirk their bounden duty, for if they do ever afterward they will be tabooed from the workingmen's society." These reports Mr. George declares to be either total falsehoods, or a malignant garbling of what he said.

He then says that Mr. Hewitt's assertion that the exemption of buildings and improvements from taxation would be for the benefit of the rich and injury of the poor," has no weight except with the ignorant, because everybody knows that the user and not the owner pays the tax. Mr. George is sorry Mr. Hewitt made the assertion, as he could not have done it through ignorance. He then refers to an interview republished in The Brooklyn Eagle, in which Mr. Hewitt speaks of the injustice of permitting what "John Stuart Mill aptly called 'the unearned increment of wealth' to go to individuals who happen to hold possession of land which grows in value by the growth of the community, and that you then saw clearly that this great fraud, due solely to social growth, should be taken in the same manner for the benefit of the whole people. Yet this is precisely the proposition which you now declare communistic and anarchistic."

As the canvass for the mayoralty draws to a close the contest grows apace. The Republicans hope that Henry George will draw enough from Mr. Hewitt to enable them to elect their candidate, Mr. Roosevelt. The heavy registration portends that all parties are alive to the importance of the contest. The George campaign is being pushed with unabated vigor. No less than fourteen George meetings were held throughout the city Saturday night, and at five of them Mr. George himself was present. He received an ovation wherever he appeared. He was so hoarse, however, that he did not attempt to speak.

All of these gentlemen seem sure of election, though Mr. Hewitt will not express himself. Mr. Roosevelt is bothered by the "strikers." He says: "They come at me in a current, and I haven't any way of defending myself. Out west you can shoot a man, but you can't here." Saturday afternoon Mr. George visited the newspaper composing-rooms and was introduced to the printers.

The total registration this year is 234,874, only 6,500 short of the registry in the Cleveland-Blaine year. This indicates a vote of about 220,000.

BURNED FOR TWELVE HOURS.

FARMINGTON, Me., Oct. 25.—The great fire which Friday night wiped out the principal part of Farmington was not under control until 4 a. m. Saturday, when it had raged steadily for twelve hours. A recapitulation of the losses is as follows: Thirty-three dwelling houses and nineteen stores; three churches, two hotels, two newspaper offices (The Chronicle and The Journal), three lawyers' offices, two insurance offices, county jail, town house, postoffice, one savings bank, one art studio, bakery, plow factory, municipal court-room, and blacksmith shop.

One of the conservative men in town sets the total loss at over $250,000. The insurance is not large. For instance, the Baptist church was not insured at all. The Congregational church and parsonage are insured. The Methodist church is insured to some extent. Hon Fred G. Perkins loses $10,000 on his brick block; no insurance. A prominent business man estimates the thirty-three dwelling houses destroyed to have had a total value of $85,000. Much of this will prove a total loss. The nineteen stores burned were worth $57,000. The three churches destroyed were valued at $50,000 in the gross; insured not over one-third. The Farmington Journal Publishing company will undoubtedly lose from $25,000 to $30,000; they were insured. The Chronicle loses an elegantly-equipped new building and their machinery and type. The total loss is $15,000; believed to be insured

Aid was summoned from distant parts. The Phillip's engine was on hand at 9 a. m. Lewiston sent a steamer which was delayed until 3 a. m. Portland sent a steamer arriving at 6 a. m. The village department had one hand engine and a hook and ladder. The water supply was from reservoirs that were low.

"CHRIST'S FINISHED WORK," IS HIS SUBJECT

Immense Throngs to Hear the Famous Preacher—Christ's Wonderful Progress on Earth when Wealth, Education and Power were Arrayed Against Him.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 24.—The throngs around the Brooklyn Tabernacle on Sunday mornings and evenings, are larger than at any time during the 17 years of Dr. Talmage's pastorate. This morning the opening hymn was that beginning:

Oh, could I speak the matchless worth,
Oh, could I sound the glories forth
That in my Saviour shine!

The text was John, xvii., 4: "I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do." The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., said:

There is a profound satisfaction in the completion of anything we have undertaken. We lift the capstone with exultation, while, on the other hand, there is nothing more disappointing than, after having toiled in a certain direction, to find that our time is wasted and our investment profitless. Christ came to throw up a highway on which the whole world might, if it chose, mount into heaven. He did it. The foul mouthed crew who attempted to tread on him could not extinguish the sublime satisfaction which he expressed when he said, "I have finished the work which Thou gavest me to do."

Alexander the Great was wounded, and the doctors could not medicate his wounds, and he seemed to be dying, and in his dream the sick man saw a plant with a peculiar flower, and he dreamed that that plant was put upon his wound, and that immediately it was cured. And Alexander, waking from his dream, told this to the physician, and the physician wandered out until he found just the kind of plant which the sick man had described, brought it to him, and the wound was healed.

Well, the human race had been hurt with the ghastliest of all wounds—that of sin. It was the business of Christ to bring a balm for that wound—the balm of divine restoration. In carrying this business to a successful issue the difficulties were stupendous.

In many of our plans we have our friends to help us; some to draw a sketch of the plan, others to help us in the execution. But Christ fought every inch of His way against bitter hostility, and amid circumstances all calculated to depress and defeat. In the first place, His worldly occupation was against Him. I find that He earned His livelihood by the carpenter's trade—an occupation always to be highly regarded and respected. But you know, as well as I do, that in order to succeed in any employment, one must give his entire time to it, and I have to declare that the fatigues of carpentry were unfavorable to the execution of a mission which required all mental and physical faculties. Through high, hard, dry, husky, insensate Judaism, to hew a way for a new and glorious dispensation was a stupendous undertaking that was enough to demand all the concentrated energies even of Christ. We have a great many romantic stories about what men with physical toil have accomplished in intellectual departments; but you know that after a man has been toiling all day with adze and saw and hammer, plane and ax, about all he can do is to rest. A weary body is an unfavorable adjunct to a toiling mind. You whose upbuilding of a kingdom, or the proclamation of a new code of morals, or the starting of a revolution which should upturn all nations, could get some idea of the incoherence of Christ's worldly occupation with His heavenly mission.

In his father's shop no more intercourse was necessary than is ordinarily necessary in bargaining with men that have work to do; yet Christ, with hands hard from touch of tools of trade, was called forth to become a public speaker, to preach in the face of mobs, while some wept, and some shook their fists, and some gnashed upon him with their teeth, and many wanted Him out of the way.

To address orderly and respectful assemblages is not so easy as it may seem, but it requires more energy, and more force, and more concentration to address an exasperated mob. The village of Nazareth heard the pounding of His hammer, but all the wide reaches of eternity were to hear the stroke of His spiritual upbuilding.

So, also, His habits of dress and of diet were against Him. The mighty men of Christ's time did not appear in apparel without trinkets and adornments. None of the Cæsars would have appeared in citizen's apparel. Yet here was a man, here was a pretended king, who always wore the same coat. Indeed it was far from shabby, for after he had worn it a long while the gamblers thought it worth raffling about; but still it was far from being an imperial robe. It was a coat that any ordinary man might have worn on any ordinary occasion.

Neither was there any pretention in His diet. No cup bearer with golden chalice brought Him wine to drink. On the seashore He ate fish, first having broiled it Himself. No one fetched Him water to drink, but bending over the well in Samaria He begged a drink. He sat at only one banquet, and that not at all sumptuous, for, to relieve the awkwardness of the host, one of the guests had to prepare wine for the company.

Other kings ride in a chariot; He walked. Other kings, as they advance, have heralds ahead, and applauding subjects behind; Christ's retinue was made up of sunburned fishermen. Other kings sleep under embroidered canopy; this one on a shelterless hill. Riding but once, as far as I now remember—on a colt, and that borrowed.

Again, His poverty was against Him. It requires money to build great enterprises. Men of means are afraid of a penniless projector, lest a loan be demanded. It requires money to print books, to build institutions, to pay instructors. No wonder the wise men of Christ's time laughed at this penniless Christ.

"Why," they said, "who is to pay for this new religion? Who is to charter the ships to carry the missionaries? Who is to pay the salaries of the teachers? Shall wealthy Judaism be discomfited by a penniless Christ?"

The consequence was that most of the people that followed Christ had nothing to lose. Wealthy Joseph of Arimathea buried Christ, but he risked no social position in doing that. It is always safe to bury a dead man. Zaccheus risked no wealth or social position in following Christ, but took a position in a tree to look down as He passed. Nicodemus, wealthy Nicodemus, risked nothing of social position in following Christ, for he skulked by night to find Him.

All this was against Christ. So the fact that He was not regularly graduated was against him. If a man comes with the diplomas of colleges and schools and theological seminaries, and he has been through foreign travel, the world is disposed to listen. There was a man who had graduated at no college, had not in any academy by ordinary means learned the alphabet of the language he spoke, and yet he proposed to talk, to instruct in subjects which had confounded the mightiest intellects. John says: "The Jews marveled, saying, how hath this man letters, having never learned?"

We in our day have found out that a man without a diploma may know as much as a man with one, and that a college cannot transform a sluggard into a philosopher or a theological seminary teach a man to preach. An empty head after the laying on of hands of the presbytery is empty still. But it shocked all existing prejudices in those olden times for a man with no scholastic pretension and no graduation from a learned institution to set himself up for a teacher. It was all against him.

So also the brevity of his life was against Him. He had not come to what we call mid-life. But very few men do anything before 35 years of age, and yet that was the point at which Christ's life terminated. The first fifteen you take in nursery and school. Then it will take you at least six years to get into your occupation or profession. That will bring you to 21 years. Then it will take you ten years, at least, to get established in your life work, correcting the mistakes you have made. If any man, at 35 years of age gets fully established in his life work he is the exception. Yet that is the point at which Christ's life terminated.

Men in military life have done their most wonderful deeds before 35 years of age. There may be exceptions to it, but the most wonderful exploits in military prowess have occurred before 35 years of age. But as a legislator—no man becomes eminent as a legislator until he has had long years of experience, and yet the graybearded scribes were expected to bow down in silence before this young legislator, who arraigned sanhedrims and accused governments.

Aristotle was old; Lycurgus was old; Seneca was old. The great legislators of the world have been old. Christ was young. All this was against him. If a child, 12 years of age, should get up in your presence to discuss great questions of metaphysics, or ethics, or politics, or government you would not be more contemptuous than these graybearded scribes in the presence of this young Christ.

Popular opinion declared in those days, "Blessed is the merchant who has a castle down on the beach of Lake Tiberias." This young man said, "Blessed are the poor." Popular opinion said in those days, "Blessed are those who live amid statuary, and fountains, and gardens, and congratulations, and all kinds of festivity." The young man responded, "Blessed are they that mourn." Public opinion in those days said, "Blessed is the Roman eagle, the flap of whose wings startles nations, and the plunge of whose iron beak inflicts cruelty upon its enemies." This young man responded, "Blessed are the merciful." Popular opinion said, "An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth." In other words, if a man knocks your eye out, knock his out. If a man breaks your tooth, break his. Retort for retort; sarcasm for sarcasm; irony for irony; persecution for persecution; wound for wound. Christ said, "Pray for them that despitefully use you."

In the hour when I was a poor … in Judea they were not ashamed of me, … now that I have come to a throne I do … despise them. Hold it not back, O weeping mother! Lay it on my warm heart. Of … such is the kingdom of heaven."

Again, I remark, there was no organization in His behalf, and that was against Him. When men propose any great work they band together, they write letters of agreement, they take oaths of fealty; and the more and complete the organization the more and complete the success. Here was one who went forth without any organization and alone. If men had a mind to join in His company all right; if they had a mind not to join in His company all well. If they came they were greeted with no loud salutation; if they went away they were sent with no bitter anathema. Peter departed, and Christ turned and looked at him. That was all!

All this was against Him. Did any one ever undertake such an enterprise amidst such infinite embarrassments and by such modes? And yet I am here to say it ended in a complete triumph. Notwithstanding His worldly occupation, His poverty, His plain face, his unpretending garb, the fact that He was schoolless, the fact that He had a brief life, the fact that He was not accompanied by any visible organization—notwithstanding all that, in an exhilaration which shall be prolonged in everlasting chorals: "I have finished the work Thou gavest me to do."

See Him victorious over the forces of nature. The sea is a crystal sepulchre. It swallowed the Central America, the President, the Spanish armada as easily as any fly that ever floated on it. The inland lakes are fully as terrible in their wrath. Recent travelers tell us that Galilee, when aroused in a storm, is overwhelming; and yet that sea crouched in His presence, and licked his feet. He knew all the waves and the wind. When he beckoned, they came. When he frowned, they fled. The heel of His foot made no indentation on the solidified water. Medical science has wrought great changes in rheumatic limbs and diseased blood, but when the muscles are entirely withered, no human power can restore them, and when a limb is once dead it is dead. But here is a paralytic—his hand lifeless. Christ says to him: "Stretch forth thy hand," and he stretches it forth.

In the eye infirmary, how many diseases of that delicate organ have been cured? But Jesus says to one blind: "Be open," and the light of heaven rushes through gates that have never before been opened. The frost or an ax may kill a tree, but Jesus smites one dead with a word. Chemistry can do many wonderful things, but what chemist at a wedding, when the wine gave out, could change a pail of water into a cask of wine?

What human voice could command a school of fish? Yet here is a voice that marshals the scaly tribes, until, in a place where they had let down the net and pulled it up with no fish in it, they let it down again, and the disciples lay hold and begin to pull, when, by reason of the multitude of fish, the net broke.

Nature is His servant. The flowers—He twisted them into His sermons; the winds—they were His lullaby when He slept in the boat; the rain—it hung glitteringly on the thick foliage of the parables; the star of Bethlehem—it sang a Christmas carol over His birth; the rocks—they beat a dirge at His death.

Behold His victory over the grave! The hinges of the family vault become very rusty, because they are never opened except to take another in. There is a knob on the outside of the door of the sepulchre, but none on the inside. Here comes the conqueror of death. He enters that realm and says: "Daughter of Jairus, sit up!" and she sits up. To Lazarus: "Come forth," and he came forth. To the widow's son He said: "Get up from that bier;" and he goes home with his mother. Then Jesus snatched up the keys of death and hung them to His girdle, and cried until all the graveyards of the earth heard him: "O death! I will be thy plague! O grave! I will be thy destruction!"

No man could go through all the obstacles I have described, you say, without having a nature adjoined that was supernatural. That arm—amid its muscles, and nerves, and bones were intertwisted the energies of omnipotence. In the syllables of that voice there was the emphasis of the eternal God. That foot that walked the deck of the ship in Gennesaret shall stamp kingdoms of darkness into demolition. This poverty-struck Christ owned Augustus, owned the Sanhedrim, owned Tiberias, owned all the castles on its beach and all the skies that looked down into its waters; owned all the earth and all the heavens. To Him of the plain coat belonged the robes of celestial royalty. He who walked the road to Emmaus—the lightnings were the fire-shod steeds to His chariot.

Yet there are those who look on and see Christ turn water into wine, and they say: Sleight of hand. And they see Christ raise the dead to life, and they say: Easily explained; not really dead; playing dead. And they see Christ giving sight to the blind man, and they say: Clairvoyant doctor. Oh! what shall they do on the day when Christ rises up in judgment, and the hills shall rock, and the trumpets shall call, peal on peal?

In the time of Theodosius the Great there was a great assault made upon the divinity of Jesus Christ, and during that time Theodosius the Great called his own son to sit on the throne with him, and be a copartner in the government of the empire; and one day the old bishop came and bowed down before Theodosius the emperor, and passed out of the room, and the emperor was offended, saying to the old bishop: "Why didn't you pay the same honor to my son, who shares with me in the government?" Then the old bishop turned to the young man and said: "The Lord bless thee, my young man," but still paid him no such honor as he had paid to the emperor. And the emperor was still offended and displeased, when the old bishop turned to Theodosius the Great and said to him: "You are offended with me because I don't pay the same honor to your son, whom you have made copartner in the government of this empire, the same honor I pay to you, and yet you encourage multitudes of people in your realm to deny the Son of God equal authority, equal power with God the Father."

My subject also reassures us of the fact that in all our struggles we have a sympathizer. You cannot tell Christ anything new about hardship. I do not think that wide ages of eternity will take the scars from his punctured side, and his lacerated temples, and his sore hands. You will never have a burden weighing so many pounds as that burden Christ carried up the bloody hill. You will never have any suffering worse than he endured when, with tongue hot, and cracked, and inflamed, and swollen, He moaned: "I thirst." You will never be surrounded by worse hostility than that which stood around Christ's feet, foaming, reviling, livid with rage, howling down His prayers and snuffing up the smell of blood. Oh! ye faint hearted, oh! ye troubled, [oh!] ye persecuted one, here is a heart than can sympathize with you!

Again, and lastly, I learn from all that has been said this morning, that Christ was awfully in earnest. If it had not been a momentous mission he would have turned back from it disgusted and discouraged. He saw you in a captivity from which he was resolved to extricate you, though it cost him all sweat, all tears, all blood. He came a great way to save you. He came from Bethlehem here, through the place of skulls, through the charnel house, through banishment. There was not among all the ranks of celestials one being who would do as much for you. I lay his crushed heart at your feet to-day.

Let it not be told in heaven that you deliberately put your foot on it. While it will take all the ages of eternity to celebrate Christ's triumph, I am here to make the startling announcement that because of the rejection of this mission on the part of some of you, all that magnificent work of garden, and cross, and grave is, so far as you are concerned, a failure. Helena, the empress, went to the Holy Land to find the cross of Christ. Getting to the Holy Land there were three crosses excavated, and the question was which of the three crosses was Christ's cross. They took a dead body, tradition says, and put it upon one of the crosses, and there was no life; and they took the dead body and put it upon another cross, and there was no life. But tradition says when the dead body was put up against the third cross it sprang into life. The dead man lived again. Oh, that the life giving power of the Son of God might start your dead soul into an eternal life, beginning this day! "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light."

Do bring along a few 10 cents'.

—James Murray's examination on the charge of burglarizing William Canary's house, was finished this morning and he was held for trial. The case will come up next Monday.

—There will be a business and social meeting of the Ladies' Afternoon Club held at the residence of Mrs. Harriet McKey on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It is important that all members be present.

—Assemblyman Bartholf sowed his seed on Stoney ground Saturday night. He spoke upon the issues of the day to the Clinton people, and made a strong impression, notwithstanding the fact that he was in the enemies' country.

—The subordinate officers in the Legion of Select Knights here have not yet been appointed. Colonel Street, with whom this power rests, has not yet received his commission although word has been received that it is now on the way.

—There will be a special meeting of the W. H. Sargent Relief Corps No. 20, Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A full attendance of the members is desired, as the department president and inspector will be present to inspect the corps. By order of the president.

—Ripe strawberries picked in the last week of October, is something unusual for this climate. Some very fine specimens have been exhibited by Mr. Jesse Miles, of the second ward, however, they being from vines that had also borne a very heavy crop last year.

—Judge Bennett was to-day petitioned by the Edgerton authorities to appoint the commissioners spoken of in Saturday's Gazette. As the men chosen must be from outside the county his Honor wished to have some time for consideration so the matter was put off until November 6th.

—Mr. Jas. Wadsworth, who for the past five years has been clerk of the Park hotel, has severed his connection with the same and has associated himself with W. M. Wilkins, where he will preside over the bar. He invites his friends to call around and see him. Jimmy says he has got a sure cure for coughs and colds, and he expects a big rush.

—After a week of alternate hopes and fears, there came a cloud of sadness into the hearts of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Tripp Saturday evening for their infant son lay in the cold embrace of death. The funeral was held this afternoon at their home in the town of Rock, the Rev. T. De Witt Peake, of this city, officiating.

—In the municipal court this afternoon the case of the state against Hurst, charged with assault and battery, was up for trial. The complainant, Paul Colvin, claims that in attempting to collect a small bill he was struck by Hurst and driven from the house. This the defendant denies, claiming no blows were dealt.

—A young man who insisted on smoking in a street car, utterly disregarding the driver's feelings, awakened quite a controversy Saturday evening. The question finally narrowed down to whether he or the driver should stay on and a few seconds later he found himself on all fours in the mud.

—The address to young men delivered by the Rev. J. H. Boggess, of Fort Atkinson, at the Congregational church last evening was listened to with much interest. Mr. Boggess is considered one of the ablest thinkers in the Wisconsin ministry and his discourse showed that he had not been overrated.

—"Linked sweetness long drawn out," murmured G. A. Shurtleff the other day as he looked up from a great roll of candy ten feet long. In the next room there was even more temptation for those endowed with a sweet tooth, as the tables were piled up with caramels and creams. Shurtleff's candy is becoming known all over the state as something especially good.

—No trace has yet been found of the person who entered Cone's boarding house on the corner of High and Bluff streets, in the first ward Friday night and got away with the valise of one of the boarders. The front door was found open when the family arose Saturday morning, but the fact that only one room in the house was entered, makes it seem rather strange, if outsiders really did the work.

—The Fond du Lac Commonwealth, of Saturday evening, says: The engineer, John E. Kay, who was so severely injured at Oak Center yesterday, was at 3:30 this afternoon reported in much better condition than could have been expected. Last evening the surgeons sewed up his wounds so far as they admitted of that treatment, including two severe scalp wounds; removed the little finger and a portion besides of the right hand extending nearly to the wrist; and set the fractured limb. He rallied nicely, and —In a well lighted room on the second floor of the Guards armory block are now located the headquarters of that ancient and honorable organization, the Angleworm club. The furnishing is not yet completed as much of this is to be done by the individual members. Each one will have a chair to suit his own taste, while the lineaments of each, appropriately framed, will grace the walls, interspersed with shooting scenes and deer's antlers. In one corner is to stand, the tile front open stove that will take the place of the little sheet iron one. Most of the furniture is yet to be brought in and one thing especially held in store by the future, is a polished gun rack with private lockers for ammunition or outfits. The club has always taken pride in its literary character, and among the first things looked after was to have the "American Field" kept on file, with such other sporting papers as might be suggested. Notwithstanding the stories that are so often told at the expense of the club, it has accomplished much in the enforcement of the game laws and in other ways. The "Angle Worms" deserves to have as comfortable quarters as can be had, if they will only keep on in the good work.

Personal.

—Mayor Winans has returned home from Stevens Point.

—Mrs. H. C. Stearns is visiting for a short time among friends in Horicon.

—The Rev. C. B. Wilcox, of Oshkosh, is in the city this afternoon, attending to some private business matters.

—Mrs. D. Burns, who has been visiting in the city a guest of her son Mr. R. A. Burns, for a month past, returned to Chicago to-day.

—Mr. F. C. Grant, who has been at Stevens Point for the past two weeks reporting the Hazeltine-Morse murder trial for the state, is home.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Andrews, who have been visiting relatives in this city for a short time past, started for their home in West Adams, Massachusetts this morning.

—Mr. W. O. Brown, of the Wells (Minn.) Advocate, arrived in the city on Saturday afternoon. He will return home this evening, his mother, Mrs. M. Jones, will accompany him.

—Ogden H. Fethers, Esq., who with Mayor John Winans, has been at Stevens Point for two weeks, engaged in the Hazeltine-Morse murder trial, returned home yesterday afternoon.

Bitter Bread.

Complaint is frequently made by those who use baking powders that they leave in bread, biscuit, or cake raised by them a disagreeable, bitter taste. This taste follows the use of all impure baking powders, and is caused either by their containing alum (introduced to make a cheap article), by the impure and adulterated character of other ingredients used, or from the ignorance of their manufacturers of the proper methods of combining them. These baking powders leave in the bread a residum formed of lime, earth, alum, or other deleterious matters, not always, though frequently, tastable in the food, and by all physicians classed as injurious to health. The Royal Baking Powder is free from this serious defect. In its use no residum is left, and the loaf raised by it is always sweet, light, and wholesome, and noticeably free from the peculiar taste complained of. The reason of this is because it is composed of nothing but absolutely pure materials, scientifically combined in exactly the proper proportions of acid and alkali to act upon and destroy each other, while producing the largest amount of rising power. We are justified in this assertion from the unqualified statements made by the government chemists, who after thorough and exhaustive tests recommended the "Royal" for governmental use because of its superiority over all others in purity, strength, and wholesomeness. There is no danger of bitter bread or biscuit where it alone is used.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer indicated 52 degrees above zero. Clear with northwest wind. At 1 p. m. the register was 62 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with northwest wind. For the corresponding hours last year the register was 31 and 59 degrees above zero. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 38 degrees above zero. Cloudy with north wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 40 degrees above zero. Cloudy with north wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 46 and 52 degrees above zero.

Their Business Booming.

Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Frank Sherer & Co's Drug Store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article, from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

Special Sale

For the next ninety days I offer my entire stock of staple and fancy groceries at cost. I will make special prices over the counter, and will sell for cash or approved notes. Pay no attention to advertised prices; I will beat them all. Sugar, flour, salt, soap, tea, coffee and spices, less than wholesale prices. This is the last opportunity. Respectfully,

FOR THE DIAMOND BADGE.

An Inter-State Blackbird Shoot to be Held here this Week.

Next Friday, sportsmen from Madison, Freeport, Rockford, and other cities near at hand will be in Janesville to try their mettle with that of the Angleworm club. The principal object of contention is the diamond badge now held by F. P. Stannard. Under the former rules only one person could challenge for it at a time but now the lists are open to all who have five dollars to pay their entry fee. This entry money is divided up into three purses, and goes to those having the three highest scores. The badge itself has been described before. It must be taken three times in succession in order to become the personal property of the winner and under the new rules, this will be very unlikely to occur.

Besides the shoot for the emblem of championship there will be four other contests. Under the heading, "First Tournament of the Angle Worm Club, at Janesville," the following programme has been issued:

MORNING—9:30.

No. 1. Ten single Peoria Blackbirds, 3 traps, 18 yards rise. Entrance $2.00, including birds.
No. 2. Fifteen single Peoria Blackbirds, 3 traps, 18 yards rise. Entrance, $2.50, including birds.

AFTERNOON.

No. 3. For diamond badge, emblematic of the championship of Winnebago, Stephenson, DeKalb, Boone and Ogle counties, Ill., and Rock county, Wis. The badge now being held by F. P. Stannard, of Janesville.
No. 4. Ten Peoria Blackbirds, 18 yards rise, 3 traps. Entrance $1.50, including birds.
No. 5. Five pairs Peoria Blackbirds, 15 yards rise. Entrance $2.00, including birds.

The Democratic Rally on Saturday Evening.

The lower part of Lappin's hall was well filled on Saturday evening, notwithstanding the storm prevailing at the time. The excellent music rendered by the Catholic Cornet band drew many to the hall, while others climbed the stairs out of curiosity to see and hear what the trio of democratic candidates—Colonels G. M. Woodward, Geo. W. Bird and Judge J. R. Doolittle—had to say. Wm. Smith, Esq., presided, and shortly after eight o'clock called the meeting to order, introducing Col. Bird as the first speaker. Col. Bird spoke for an hour, dwelling wholly on national questions. He was followed by Col. Woodward, who occupied three quarters of an hour in an attempt to discuss state affairs, especially the labor question and the Milwaukee riot. The colonel's remarks were of no effect and fell flat, the points he attempted to make were hardly worthy or becoming a gentleman standing as a candidate for the high office of governor of a great state. Judge Doolittle's speech was a personal one and very brief, giving the reason of his candidacy at this time. Many had gathered at the hall with the idea that Judge Doolittle would make a set speech, and were anxious to hear him, consequently were disappointed. There was very little enthusiasm manifested, and no particular advantage gained by the democrats in holding this meeting. As a public debater on state affairs, Colonel Woodward is a failure.

A Bee Thief.

On Saturday night or Sunday morning a thief entered the premises of Mr. F. F. Pierson, third ward, and carried away a hive of bees. The loss was discovered on Sunday morning, and by carefully inspecting the premises Mr. Pierson and others discovered the peculiar hoof mark of a horse belonging to a party living not far away. The hoof marks were traced to the owners premises, or until the parties were satisfied of the whereabouts of the stolen bees. Mr. Pierson now desires the owner of the horse with the peculiar hoof to call and see him and save the necessity of further legal proceedings. The hoof marks were a "dead give away" to the thief.

Brace Up.

You are feeling depressed, your appetite is poor, you are bothered with headache, you are fidgetty, nervous, and generally out of sorts, and want to brace up. Brace up, but not with stimulants, spring medicines, or bitters, which have for their basis very cheap, bad whisky, and which stimulate you for an hour, and then leave you in worse condition than before. What you want is an alterative that will purify your blood, start healthy action of liver and kidneys, restore your vitality, and give renewed health and strength. Such a medicine you will find in Electric Bitters, and only 50 cents a bottle at Frank Sherer's Drug store.

THE OLD BATTLE FIELDS.

Something of Interest to Old Soldiers.

A Look at Some of the Battle Fields of the Rebellion.

The following letter, written to W. P. Clarke, of Milton, is handed us for publication. The letter speaks for itself:

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 30th 1886.

DEAR COMRADE: Thank you for the Gazette of the 18th inst., giving list of our boys who met at Janesville on the 17th. It was my intention to have been with you, but the great struggle for bread and butter takes precedence over social reunion, and I obeyed orders and came here Sept. 1st. How few you mustered. Where are all the boys? Many of them I presume, like myself, could not attend. Many have answered to the last "long roll" in the battle of life. I wonder who will be of the last "Corporals guard" of the old 13th; who will be of the last reunion held on earth? Whoever they are they will be gray-haired, hardy old veterans, and as they lean upon their staffs, and in broken tones say the last good-bye ever said at a 13th reunion. Would that a painter's pencil might catch the spirit and perpetuate it forever. Did you ever think how soon in the future, a solitary old soldier of the 13th will have only communion with the souls of dead comrades at the time of our annual gathering and a last man would alone pray for peace to all his dead brothers gone—and the 13th is dead.

I could tell you much to interest you, for I have been a wanderer, and I have, almost reverently, trod old familiar ground. Columbus, Ky, the Gibralter of the Mississippi; you remember how defiantly its bold headlands overtopped the little town, and how strong it was naturally. The "father of waters" has harvested his harvest of hills, and Columbus is no more. You remember the great hill, on top of which was the fort where the "regulars" camped; the burrow on the hillside, where the rebels had hidden an engine and pump, and where John Crotzenberg was engineer in "rat hole"; the long, single street along the river; the street under the shadow of the hill; all gone, and what there is of Columbus is on the other side of the river, what was called Belmont when we were there.

From Columbus to Moscow. Dingy old Moscow is just the same. The old church to which we stampeded when a great wind tore all our tents down—that night, when with shirt close reef Col. Maloney clung to his tent pole, ... ing to Billy Ryer, "Adjutant, where is my tent?" The old church is still there, as is all the little wooden ... ing over which was the Masonic lodge, that will be remembered by those of the "mystic," of the 13th. I did not have time to go out into the country to the plantation from which the boys stole the sugar, and which I could still trace ... the picket line here Jerome Door shot the calf, and where "sugar" and "honey" was a perfectly good counterfeit ... The Mobile and Ohio railroad did not fancy our bridge-building, and replaced the one we built with a prettier one just after the war. You would not know Moscow anywhere, but Union City has grown to be a smart little manufacturing town, and there is not a familiar landmark there.

At Nashville our Edgefield camp is covered with residences ... the closest scrutiny fails to reveal a trace of our tenting there. We are remembered kindly, as a rule, by the Edgefield people. The name we knew ... is gone, and this prettiest suburb ... is growing ... Nashville. Fort Nashville is called ... The other Negley frowns about Nashville are forts and earthworks ... earth, have been raised to the level ... conditions. Nashville has ... turned to the ... in every way, ... there are many land ... and is a good city ... recognized by the marks that ... the capitol, the 13th visitor, ... Zollicoffer building Polk residence house—and "smoky row." ... now the ... in for an afternoon at ...

I got off ... because I had any business at Stevenson, because the place looked ... ness there ... because I remember at all ... of rain and misery, tented ... ed a few rocks. Except that two ... ing wooden shells on the single, ... of the ... have been replaced with one ... is just as we left it 1863. ... brick to Crow Creek, where we ... I walked ... and block house, and built heap of charcoal and earth ... on where I had stood. ... to it Huntsville. The town is ... and is as beautiful as ever, ... famous spring is the pride of ...

... don't remember much about Chattanooga. The country from there to Atlanta is battle-scarred, as it was our ... from Chickamauga to Atlanta and the rifle-pits and trenches are seen all along the line, marking battleground of Dalton, Chattanooga, Big Shanty, Altoona and Atlanta. ... picked up some very interesting relics along this line.

The curse of God seems to rest on Andersonville—a blighted little hamlet—that even a southerner don't want to live in. I find the people of the south kindly and gracefully accepting the situation, except those on the line of Sherman's march from Atlanta to the sea. All along this line they are ugly yet, and hate Sherman as "the devil hates holy water."

I was at Charleston a year—poor stricken old city. Five hundred and thirty days Battery Wagner shelled her, ruined her palaces but did not break the spirit of the beautiful city by the sea.

There is but a vestige left of Fort Henry, the overflow of the Tennessee and the rains of twenty-five years have done their work. It is only a weed grown waste. Fort Donelson is an earth ruin, still showing the lines, and has stood it much better than Henry. Our new fort of red clay suffers more from the ravages of time than old Fort Donelson proper. Dover is only sparcely rebuilt, and will never again be the town it was in 1860. Just started out to thank you for the paper, and I guess you will now thank me to quit. Tell me what you know of the boys. Yours,
U. S. HOLLESTER.

TWO MEN DROWNED.

Albert C. Thompson and Jacob Flock Lose Their Lives in Rock River.

A Beloit dispatch to the Milwaukee Sentinel, under date of the 24th, says: While taking a ride in a sail boat on Rock river this forenoon, Albert C. Thompson and Jacob Flock were drowned about three miles up the stream from the city dam. The boat was under heavy sail with a strong wind blowing, and suddenly turned over and sank in about ten feet of water, the men going down with it. They came to the surface, however, and caught hold of the mast, a few feet of which was out of water, and, while clinging to this a farmer called to them to hold on, and he would get a boat to them, but before help arrived they were drowned. Mr. Thompson was 25 years old, and son of John Thompson, a plow manufacturer, and a member of the Thompson & Sons Plow company, and manager of the Kansas City branch house of the company. Flock was a cousin of Albert Thompson, and was 20 years old, and lived in John Thompson's family. ... spent was making a short visit to ... home, having spent several months sailing for pleasure on the Pacific ocean. Jacob Flock was a Norwegian seaman and came to America only a few years ago. The bodies were recovered within a few hours. Flock had attempted to swim ashore and could swim some, although he had but one leg. Thompson could not swim and was found a few feet down the stream from the boat. The accident has created a profound sensation in the city and hundreds of people line the river banks until the recovery of the bodies.

Albany.

—Political organizations are not unlike christian denominations. Though widely dissimilar in their views, they are all aiming for the same place.

—Mr. J. Bouder, of Monroe, was in town last week taking in the political from the republican standpoint.

—Ed. Ruger, of Monroe, candidate for county clerk on the democratic ticket, paid Albany a visit last week.

—Mrs. ... th Dolsen, of Janesville, is a visitor in the village, the guest of Dr. and Mrs. ... Hill.

—Mr. James K. Crouk, an old resident of Rock county, died suddenly at his home, Magnolia on the 23d, from apoplexy. Funeral service will be held at the Catholic church in Albany, Monday 10 a. m. Mr. Crouk was reckoned among the early pioneers, and had amassed a large property in real estate in Rock county, also the owner of a large farm in Green county. He leaves a wife and thrifty family of matured sons and daughters who have contributed largely to the accumulation of the vast estate.

—D. E. Stevens, formerly of Evansville, stock buyer at this point, moved to town the fore part of last week. The family are domiciled in pleasant quarters on Mechanic street, south of H. B. Jubes' residence.

—The Chicago, Madison & Northern railroad are working studiously to overcome as many obstacles as possible in Mt. Pleasant and Exeter. The big hills will have to be bored, in any event, should either of the present lines be located. The question of cost will be settled approximately in a few days as a force of men have been making tests of the natural deposits of the hills, but with what result we are at present uninformed.

—Potatoes are looking down in the mouth—Selling at 60 cents per bushel on Saturday.

For bedding or clothing, and especially for blankets and flannels, use Fairbank's soap.

Mrs. Parson's Latest Adventure.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Parsons, wife of the condemned Chicago Anarchist, was advertised to speak Sunday afternoon at a hall in East Orange, N. J. A crowd gathered at the place, but were unable to gain admission, the proprietors having decided, in view of unfavorable comment, not to allow the meeting to take place there. When Mrs. Parsons arrived she walked through the crowd and up-stairs, braced herself against the door of the hall, burst it open, and marched up to the platform. The crowd followed her into the hall, and she at once began to deliver her lecture on Anarchism. There was some attempt to create confusion during the lecture, but Mrs. Parsons declared that if it was not stopped she would have the disturbers ejected by the police. She was not seriously interrupted, and made a speech of the usual Anarchist character.

An Evolutionary Christian Condemned.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. Oct. 25.—The South Carolina Presbyterian synod, after a heated discussion of the Woodrow evolution question, adopted a resolution requesting Dr. Woodrow to resign his professorship in the Thelogical seminary. The doctor promptly declined to do so, whereupon the synod passed a resolution to the effect that with the concurrence of the synods of Georgia, Alabama and Florida the board of directors of the seminary request Dr. Woodrow to resign, and if he shall not accede the board shall declare the professorship vacant.
